MARRIAGE: The Sacrament of Marriage requires a time of spiritual preparation. According to the Common Policy adopted by the Bishops of New Jersey, this preparation requires attendance at a marriage preparation program (Pre-Cana) as well as sessions with the parish deacon or priest. Therefore, couples should make arrangements at the Parish Office one year before the planned wedding date and before finalizing any social plans.

MISSION STATEMENT: The goal of Saint Justin the Martyr Parish is that each member grow in the Grace through Jesus Christ, and in so doing cooperate with the Holy Spirit in giving glory to God, in experiencing the salvation of their soul, and in building up the Body of Christ. 514 page 2

THE SACRAMENT OF THE ANOINTING OF THE SICK. To

help prepare for Saturday's communal celebration of the Anointing of the Sick within Mass [February 12th: 2:30 pm], we will reflect on Collect 'B' for this most tender ritual. We will eventually have to re-reflect on all Anointing of the Sick orations, as they are slated to be revised. All English language Lectionaries were revised in 1998; then the Church began the lengthy process of revising all her Sacramental ritual books. Here's a recap of her progress:

The revised Roman Missal, with its orations for almost all Masses, became mandatory on the 1st Sunday of Advent, 2011. On Pentecost 2016, the revised Rite of Confirmation went into effect; on December 30, 2016, the revised Rite of Matrimony; on March 6, 2019, the Chrism Mass' revised Rite for Blessing the Sacred Oils; and on Easter, 2020, the revised Rite of Baptism. The revised Rite of Holy Orders is in the process of being printed and will go into effect this Spring. That leaves the 1974 Rite of Penance and the 1973 Anointing of the Sick the only ritual books that have not been revised; once that happens, I will get to work on explaining them. Here is one of the current Collects for use when the Anointing of the Sick within Mass is celebrated.

Anointing of the Sick within Mass - Collect - Option B

Almighty ever-living God, eternal health of believers,
hear our prayers for your servants who are sick:
grant them, we implore you, your merciful help, so that, with their health restored, they may give you thanks in the midst of your Church.
Through our Lord Jesus ... for ever and ever. Amen.

ISN'T THIS 'THE LAST RITES'? Sadly, some still call this Sacrament of Healing 'the Last Rites,' which is misleading - and presumptuous! In fact, as the above oration clearly states, the Church's hope is that those who are anointed are restored to health and returned to active ministry! Besides, the ideal Sacrament for those in danger of death is the Eucharist, in the form of Viaticum, which has special prayers for those who have one final dose of the Most Blessed Sacrament as their 'food for the journey!' The Church so desires the dying receive this great 'Comfort Food' that it may be administered by a Priest, Deacon or Lay Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion. After renewing the dying person's Baptismal Promises and offering them Holy Communion in the usual way, the Minister adds:

"May the Lord Jesus Christ protect you and lead you to eternal life. Amen.
God of peace, you offer eternal healing
to those who believe in you;
you have refreshed your servant N.
with food and drink from heaven:
lead him/her safely into the kingdom of light.
Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

While only a Priest can hear the dying person's confession, absolve them, and/or anoint them, no one should die without the grace of the Most Holy Eucharist!

The Anointing of the Sick, which only a Priest can administer, is open to anyone who needs a spiritual boost as they endure the weakness and sickness of our human nature. Ideally, it should be celebrated in its fullest form, during holy Mass, with a Rite of Sprinkling, a choir and sacred music, caregivers, and the People of God, who join in prayer with the clergy and sick persons. Canon Law stipulates who should or should not be anointed:

#1004 §1. The Anointing of the Sick can be administered to a member of the faithful who, having reached the use of reason, begins to be in danger due to sickness or old age.

#§2. [It] can be repeated if the sick person, having recovered, again becomes gravely ill or if the condition becomes more grave during the same illness.

#1005. [It] is to be administered in a case of doubt whether the sick person has attained the use of reason, is dangerously ill, or is dead.

#1006. [It] is to be conferred on the sick who at least implicitly requested it when they were in control of their faculties.

#1007. [It] is not to be conferred upon those who persevere obstinately in manifest grave sin.

'Walk-ins' are most welcome, but we encourage those who wish to be anointed to be enrolled by contacting the Parish Office.

In Christ,

Father Mark

We stand before You, Holy Spirit, as we gather together in Your name. With You alone to guide us, make Yourself at home in our hearts; Teach us the way we must go and how we are to pursue it. We are weak and sinful; do not let us promote disorder. Do not let ignorance lead us down the wrong path nor partiality influence our actions.

Let us find in You our unity so that we may journey together to eternal life and not stray from the way of truth and what is right. All this we ask of You, who are at work in every place and time, in the communion of the Father and the Son, forever and ever. Amen.

The Pain and Sorrow of Miscarriage

In my priesthood, one of the hardest things that I have had to do is to be with parents who have suffered the death of a child. Miscarriage is often misunderstood. It is a very real and painful experience, both for the mother and the father, and even for older children in the family. A miscarriage is the loss of a child who is just as real and has just as much value as any other child of any age. A couple who have had a miscarriage are parents who have lost a child.

I recently read this article in “Our Sunday Visitor”—a publication I have and continue to highly recommend. It was written by Scott Warden, a managing editor of the publication and published in the December 23, 2021 edition.

In a day and age when we often hear of many professional athletes behaving badly, we often are not aware of the many good athletes with good moral values. Ryan Kelly, a center for the Indianapolis Colts, is an example of a professional athlete who is truly a good role model for our children. The stories of the Kelly and Warden families are heartwarming. Let us pray for all parents who have lost a child either through miscarriage or through other causes. And consider subscribing to “Our Sunday Visitor”. You will not be disappointed. Here is the article:

Finding the small blessings amid the pain of losing a child

Scott Warden December 23, 2021

I was scrolling through my phone recently — probably on Facebook or one of the myriad sports websites that I like to read when I have the time. I don’t get to watch many actual games — the kids generally control the televisions during normal hours of operation — so I stay informed as best I can by reading about what I missed. An unexpected and awful headline caught my attention: “Colts center Ryan Kelly missed the Patriots game after death of his daughter.”

Despite living in Indiana nearly all my life, I don’t have much rooting interest in the Colts, and I’d never heard of Ryan Kelly (or his wife, Emma) until recently. The more I read about their story, though, the more my heart broke for this young couple.

In an Instagram post a week before Christmas, Emma Kelly wrote: “There is no easy way for us to say what we’re about to say ... but we lost our sweet baby, Mary Katherine Kelly, aka Mary Kate, this week. I was 19 weeks along. ... After learning she wasn’t with us anymore, I was told there was no other choice but to deliver our baby next. Ryan and I spent almost 48 hours in the hospital. I labored for 24 hours with her before she made her entrance on December 17th. I was so angry at first that I had to deliver her, only for it to become the biggest blessing out of this nightmare. It gave Ryan and I the opportunity to hold our little Saint, Mary Kate, before officially saying goodbye to her. ... I don’t think we’ll ever understand why God decided to call her home when he did but our faith is unshaken. He knows better than we & she was needed back home, in Heaven.”

After having read that, tears began trickling down my face. Then I read what Ryan Kelly shared on his own Instagram page, and the floodgates opened. He wrote: “Nothing made me happier than being your Dad. You gave your Mom and I that gift. You were simply a miracle and always will be. I’m sorry you never got to open those sweet eyes and see us or take your first steps but you have angel wings now. You left this world too soon but we know God had a bigger purpose for you. Your mom and I find comfort knowing you’re being loved on by your great grandparents. Thank you for watching over us and your future siblings. I’ll forever wonder who you’d be today. Until we meet again my sweet girl, I love you.”

Despite having never met Ryan and Emma Kelly, I couldn’t admire them any more than I do. The strength and courage it took for them to open their hearts in such a public way while grieving the loss of their infant daughter is extraordinary. Mostly, I admire their faith. The grief of losing a child is incomparable, and it’s natural to ask God why he would allow so much suffering. At least, it was natural to me.

This past fall, we found out that my wife was pregnant. To call it a surprise would be an understatement. It didn’t take long, though, for the shock to fade and excitement and joy to take hold. About six or seven weeks in, though, there were signs of trouble. The ultrasound technician broke the news to us: She couldn’t find a heartbeat. When she left the room, I hugged my wife, and we cried for the baby whose milestones we would never see — her first smile, first steps, first day of school. So many others. We cried for her three brothers and three sisters who would have adored her as much as we did.

Of course, we couldn’t be sure that the baby was a girl, but my wife and I both felt it — a whisper from the Holy Spirit, perhaps. We named her Agnes Catherine. St. Agnes is the patroness of girls, and St. Catherine of Sweden is the patroness of miscarriages.

Going through such a trauma certainly brought my wife and me closer together. My prayer is that the same will be true for Ryan and Emma Kelly, whom God has abundantly blessed.

In your mercy, God, grant your peace to all those who have suffered the loss of a child, as well as those who struggle with infertility. Mary and Joseph, pray for us! Saints Gerard Majella and Gianna Beretta Molla, pray for us!

Saints Mary Kate and Agnes Catherine, whom we love dearly, pray for us!
